With Bonfire Night just around the corner, please take a few extra precautions to help hedgehogs and other wildlife.

- Reposition bird and animal feeders left on the ground away from the bonfire site for at least a week before building a bonfire
- Large bonfires that cannot be lit straight away will be safer and less inviting to wildlife if using a mesh fence such as chicken wire, secure at the base of the woodpile and with an overhang around the bonfire acting as a barrier.
- Use broom handles to lift the bonfire up and torches to check underneath wood whilst listening carefully for any signs of life. Check, check and check again.
- Lighting the bonfire at one side rather than all round may provide a brief means of escape for any animals resting inside the bonfire.
- Ensure bonfires or fireworks are not lit close to over-hanging trees and bushes. Pin Catherine Wheels to posts instead of tree trunks.
- Provide alternative accommodation such as a waterproof box laden with fresh straw, leaves and/or shredded paper for any visiting animals.
- Have a blanket and bucket of water available in case you need to put out the fire or an animal on fire
- Contact a local vet, animal rescue or the RSPCA should you find an injured wildlife casualty.
- Ensure the bonfire is out, or safe before leaving it – a large bonfire will produce a pile of ash that could be hot for days afterwards, potentially harming wildlife.
- Please pass on this information to others, it could save lives
