As we head into the half term holiday, we would like to re-iterate how proud we are of children, staff and parents in the way they have coped through the challenges of this half term. Many thanks for completing the Parent Survey - we are currently analysing results and putting together actions to further develop our remote education provision. The results of these we will share with you next half term.

One of the subjects the children have particularly enjoyed 'remotely' and in school over the half term is Art - so we thought it would be good to share some of the wonderful work that has been completed - please see below and page two.

Message from Mrs Adams (Specialist Art Teacher)

Thank you for the support you give to your children in Art. They continually impress with their effort, creativity and ingenuity.

Half-term might be an opportunity to make another fine piece of Art?

The Royal Academy is running a Young Artist's Summer Show Young Artists' Summer Show | Royal Academy - It is free to enter. Parents can submit their children's work. St Mary's is registered as a participating school.

This week we marked Safer Internet Day with a range of activities and two live assemblies. Thank you to Mr Lett for leading our work on 'An internet we trust - exploring reliability in the online world' - important lessons for us all!

We include our weekly online safety family activity sheet, which this week is all about online gaming - which we imagine to be a big thing right now! In the activity sheet you will learn more about online gaming and how to stay safe when playing.

We noticed that last week's focus on live streaming was not attached in the ParentMail, but as we feel these online safety messages are extremely important, we have also included this so families have not missed it.

A huge thank you to everyone who donated to our collection for Glass Door Charity at Christmas - please see attached letter that gives a strong sense of the impact your kind contributions will make.

Please be assured we will keep you updated on further information and guidance regarding whole school opening as soon as we get it. In the meantime, we wish you all a safe and happy half term break. Remote Education and in school provision will begin on Tuesday 23rd February.

Best wishes
St. Mary's SLT
